ABOUT THE COVER

New York Mets manager Bud Harrelson is pictured with the late Gil Hodges, his manager and mentor at Shea Stadium. Cover photo by Marc Levine; Illustration by Brenden Riley.

AND THE NAME IS . . .

"The name is METS . . . just plain Mets."

Thus began a press release dated May 8,1961, announcing the name of the brand-new National League expansion team in the Big Apple.

The name Mets was judged by club owner Mrs. Joan Payson as the one that best met five basic criteria: 1) it met public and press acceptance; 2) it was closely related to the team's corporate name (Metropolitan Baseball Club, Inc); 3) it was descriptive of the Metropolitan area; 4) it had a brevity that delighted copy readers everywhere; 5) it had historical background, referring to the Metropolitans of the 19th century American Association.

Other names considered included Rebels, Skyliners, NYBs, Burros (for the five boroughs), Continentals, Avengers . . . as well as Jets and Islanders, names that would eventually find their way into the New York sports scene.

WHAT'S IN A LOGO?

The circular Mets logo, designed by sports cartoonist Ray Gatto and unveiled on November 16, 1961, has gone unchanged throughout the history of the club. The shape of the insignia, with its orange stitching, represents a baseball and the bridge in the foreground symbolizes that the Mets, in bringing back the National League to New York, represent all five boroughs. It's not just a skyline in the background, but a skyline with a meaning to it. At the left is a church spire, symbolic of Brooklyn, the borough of churches. The second building from the left is the Williamsburg Savings Bank, the tallest building in Brooklyn. Next is the Woolworth Building. After a general skyline view of midtown comes the Empire State Building. At the far right is the United Nations Building.

LONGEST NO-HIT BIDS

In the 29-year history of the New York Mets, no Met pitcher has thrown a no-hitter. However, three times in the club's history, Tom Seaver has taken a no-hitter into the ninth inning:

Sept. 24, 1975—at Chicago, ND in 1-0 loss (broken up by Wallis, single with two out)
July 4, 1972—vs. San Diego, won 2-0 (Lee, single with one out)
July 9, 1969—vs. Chicago, won 4-0 (Qualls, single with one out broke up perfect game bid)

Three pitchers have tossed 7.2 no-hit innings before the bid was broken up:

June 19, 1988—David Cone vs. Phila., won 6-0 (Jeltz single)
April 10, 1982—Pat Zachry at Chicago, won 9-5 (Molinaro single)
May 13, 1970—Gary Gentry at Chicago, won 4-0 (Banks single)

Of the current pitchers on the Mets staff, three have carried no-hitters into the eighth inning: Cone, Ron Darling and Dwight Gooden. A list of the longest no-hit bids by current Mets starters.

CONE—June 19, 1988 vs. Phila. (7.2 IP, Jeltz single)
DARLING—June 28, 1987 vs. Phila. (7.0 IP, Gross triple)

No non-pitcher has taken the mound for the Mets in their 29-year history. Additionally, only two Met pitchers ever played another position. That happened in the same game July 22, 1986 vs. Cincinnati, when extra innings and ejections enabled Jesse Orosco and Roger McDowell to shuttle between the mound, rightfield and leftfield. Orosco registered a putout.

EIGHT-FOR-EIGHT

The Mets' club record for the most hits in consecutive official at bats is eight, set by Jerry Grote in 1970 and matched by Keith Hernandez in 1985.

Grote's streak began on July 7, 1970, when he had singles in each of his last three at bats against the Cards. He went 4-for-4 against St. Louis on July 8, and got his eighth straight hit in his first at bat against Montreal on July 9. The streak stopped when Jerry grounded to third against Rich Nye in the third inning of the July 9 game against the Expos.

Hernandez began his streak on October 3, 1985, going 5-for-5 at St. Louis. He went 3-for-3 (along with an intentional walk) the next night, October 4, against the Expos at Shea. Keith was stopped at 8-for-8 when he struck out against Floyd Youmans in the first inning on October 5 against Montreal at Shea.

THIS UMPIRE STANDS ALONE

If it's a big game in New York Mets history, chances are pretty good that Ed Sudol umpired in it.

Sudol, who served the NL with distinction from 1957 through 1977, umpired in the Mets' triumphs in the 1969 and 1973 National League Championship Series, served as the home plate umpire in Jim Bunning's perfect game and in the 1964 All-Star Game (both at Shea), and was the second base umpire in the first game in Mets history (April 11, 1962 at St. Louis).

And, in what must be an unofficial endurance mark for any umpire at any level, Sudol was the home plate umpire in ALL THREE 20-plus inning Mets marathons (25 innings against the Cards in 1974, 24 innings against the Astros in 1968, and 23 innings against the Giants in 1964).

THE DAY IT RAINED HOME RUNS

On June 11, 1967 at Wrigley Field, the Mets and Chicago Cubs combined to put on one of the greatest slugging exhibitions in baseball history. In the second game of a doubleheader, the two clubs slammed a total of 11 home runs—tying a major league mark for the most homers by two teams—as the Cubs won, 18-10.

Adolfo Phillips belted three homers in the game for Chicago (off Jack Lamabe in the third inning, Chuck Estrada in the fifth and Don Shaw in the sixth), while Randy Hundley added a pair of four-baggers. Ron Santo and Ernie Banks also homered for the Cubs. Ron Swoboda, Jerry Buchek, Jerry Grote and Bob Johnson all connected for New York . . . with Buchek's, Grote's and Johnson's blasts all coming in the ninth inning.

For added measure, Phillips (who had four on the day) and New York's Tommy Davis homered in the first game—a 5-3 Chicago win—for a grand total of 13 homers for the doubleheader!

METS SCOREBOARD

The 1988 season introduced a new scoreboard system at Shea Stadium. The system, manufactured by the Whiteway Sign Company of Chicago, IL, replaces the scoreboard in right center field as well as the auxiliary scoreboards near the foul lines. The entire system is computer-operated including the automatic updating of out of town scores which has been expanded to include all major league games in progress. All advertising panels, with the exception of the large center panel on the main scoreboard were made into tri-vision panels, thereby tripling the space available to Mets' advertisers. Cost of the project is estimated in excess of two million dollars and will be financed through advertising revenues.

DETERMINING ON BASE PERCENTAGE: Add the total of hits, walks, and hit by pitches and divide by the total of at-bats, walks, hit by pitches, and sacrifice flies.

CONSECUTIVE-GAME HITTING STREAKS: A consecutive-game hitting streak shall not be terminated if all the player's plate appearances (one or more) result in a base on balls, hit batsman, defensive interference or a sacrifice bunt. The streak shall terminate if the player has a sacrifice fly and no hit.

CONSECUTIVE-GAME PLAYING STREAK: A consecutive-game playing streak shall be extended if the player plays one half-inning on defense, or if he completes a time at bat by reaching base or being put out. A pinch-running appearance only shall not extend the streak. If a player is ejected from a game by an umpire before he can comply with the requirements of this rule, his streak shall continue.

TRADING REGULATIONS: Players are available on waivers in reverse order of standings, at the time waivers expire, if more than 30 days after start of the season; otherwise in reverse order of standings at close of preceding season.

DETERMINING THE MAGIC NUMBER: Determine the number of games yet to be played, add one, then subtract the number of games ahead in the loss column of the standings from the closest opponent.

DETERMINING A "MAJOR LEAGUE YEAR": 172 days constitute a full year in the Major Leagues.

ROOKIE RULE: The Baseball Writers Association of America considers a player a rookie unless during the previous season or seasons he has (a) exceeded 130 at-bats or 50 innings pitched in the Major Leagues, or, (b) accumulated more than 45 days on the active roster of a Major League club, excluding military service, during the 25-man limit. NOT ON A BALK

Contrary to popular belief and legend—propagated through books, magazines and newspaper articles and a highlight record album—the first run ever scored against the Mets did NOT score on a balk. The St. Louis Cardinals scored twice against the Mets in the first inning of the Mets' first game (April 11, 1962 at Busch Stadium), and a balk WAS committed, but neither of the runs scored on it.

With one out in the Cardinals' first inning, Julian Javier singled against Met starter Roger Craig. Bill White followed with a single, sending Javier to third. Stan Musial then singled to score Javier (there's the first run ever against the Mets) and send White to second.

Ken Boyer stepped in, with White at second and Musial at first. And that's when Craig balked, sending White to third and Musial to second. Boyer followed with a ground out to third baseman Don Zimmer, that scored White with the second and final run of the inning. The Cards went on to win, 11-4.

METS THIRD BASEMEN

A total of 87 players have appeared at third base for the Mets since 1962. Only seven players appeared in more than 200 games at third—Wayne Garrett (709), Howard Johnson (664), Hubie Brooks (516), Ed Charles (247), Lenny Randle (234), Ray Knight (232) and Charlie Smith (211).

THE BIG INNING

The biggest inning in Mets history? It's the 10-run bombardment that they unleashed against the Cincinnati Reds in the sixth inning at Shea on June 12, 1979. It was the keynote in a 12-6 victory.

The inning featured five hits and two Reds' errors as the Mets victimized three Cincinnati pitchers (Bill Bonham, Manny Sarmiento and Dave Tomlin) during the record assault.

Key hits during the inning were Frank Taveras' two-run double, Richie Hebner's two-run single, and Doug Flynn's three-run, inside-the-park home run. The Mets went into the inning trailing, 5-2 . . . and came out of it with a 12-5 lead.

* WFAN Radio 660 will air all 162 regular season games for the ninth straight year. Bob Murphy and Gary Cohen call the play-by-play action.

* Murphy joined the Mets for the inaugural 1962 season after broadcasting for the Boston Red Sox (1954-59) and Baltimore Orioles (1960-61).
* In addition to baseball, he also has broadcast six Orange Bowl games and five Gator Bowl contests.
* Bob is the younger brother of the late Jack Murphy, the renowned columnist for the San Diego Union and the man for whom Jack Murphy Stadium in San Diego is named.

* Makes his off-season home in Palm Beach Gardens, FL with his wife Joye.

* Ralph Kiner joined the newborn Mets in 1962 after a storied 10-year playing career that earned him election to the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y in 1975.
* Ralph belted 369 homers during his career with the Pittsburgh Pirates, Chicago Cubs and Cleveland Indians. He won or shared the National League home run crown for seven straight seasons.
* With the Pirates in 1949, Ralph hit 54 homers, knocked in 127 runs and batted .310. The next year, he hit 47 homers and drove in 118 runs for the Bucs. Some of Kiner's other home run feats include belting 13 grand slams, hitting two or more homers on 34 occasions, cracking three homers in a game three different times and slamming five homers in two consecutive games (accomplished twice).
* For his career, Ralph played in 1,472 games and had 5,205 at bats, 971 runs, 1,451 hits, 216 doubles, 39 triples, 369 homers, 1,015 RBI and a lifetime batting average of .279. He was traded to the Cubs in 1953, and a chronic sciatica problem ended his playing days at Cleveland in 1955.
* After his retirement, Kiner was the General Manager of the Pacific Coast League's San Diego Padres, and also did announcing for the Chicago White Sox with the legendary Bob Elson before joining the Mets. Ralph lives with his wife DiAnn in Greenwich, CT.
* Kiner's first 25 years with the Mets were captured in his autobiography, "Kiner's Korner: My Quarter-Century with the Mets." His uniform number 4 was retired in the summer of 1987 in ceremonies at Pittsburgh.
* On February 3, 1990, he received the William Slocum Award for Long and Meritorious Service at the New York Baseball Writer's Dinner.

* Tim McCarver, who starred behind the plate for 21 big league seasons and did three years of play-by-play and color with the Phillies from 1980-82, is entering his ninth year as a Mets' announcer. He began his major league career with the Cardinals in 1959, and is one of only seven modern-day players to perform in four decades.
* McCarver was with St. Louis from 1959-69. Tim, a native of Memphis, spent two-and-a-half years with the Phillies, a half season with Montreal, two more seasons with the Cards, two with the Red Sox and six more years (1975-80) with the Phillies again.
* McCarver, 49, played in three World Series with the Cardinals, hitting .478 with a homer and five RBI in the 1964 classic against the Yankees. He also participated in three NL Championship Series with the Phillies from 1976-78, and All-Star Games in 1966 and 1967. He scored the winning run in the bottom of the 10th inning in the 1966 All-Star Game in St. Louis.
* Tim announced the 1988 Winter Olympics in Calgary for ABC-TV. In 1992, he will work the Winter Olympics for CBS-TV in Albertville, France. He is also a member of the CBS-TV's Major League Baseball play-by-play team. He and his wife Anne have two daughters, Kathy and Kelly. * Also has done play-by-play for athletic teams at Columbia, the University of Pennsylvania, and Old Dominion University.
* Was a Dean's List student at Columbia University, where his major was Political Science.
* His wife's name is Jean.

* Rusty Staub, who starred in the major leagues for 23 seasons, begins his sixth year as a commentator on Mets broadcasts.

* A major league regular at age 19, Rusty saw action with Houston (1963-68), Montreal (1969-71), the Mets (1972-75), Detroit (1976-79), Montreal again (1979), Texas (1980) and the Mets again (1981-85). He compiled at least 500 hits for the Astros, Expos, Mets and Tigers, and is the only man in major league history to collect at least 500 hits for four clubs.
* For his career, Staub, now 47, played in 2,951 games (seventh on the all-time list), had 9,720 at bats (17th all-time), 1,189 runs, 2,716 hits, 499 doubles, 292 homers and 1,466 RBI, to go with a .279 career batting average and 100 career pinch hits. He had four, 20-plus homer seasons and three, 100-plus RBI seasons. His 105 RBI for the Mets in 1975 established a then-club record, which was broken by Darryl Strawberry in 1990. Rusty and the immortal Ty Cobb are the only players in history to homer both before their 20th birthdays and after their 40th.

SELF-SUPPORT

In the entire 29-year history of the club, only twice has a Mets pitcher belted a grand slam home run.

The first one came in the club's second season, on July 15, 1963. Frank Thomas, Joe Hicks and Larry Burright were the runners when Carl Willey belted a drive over the Polo Grounds right field wall off Houston's Ken Johnson. The jackpot blast came in the second inning of the Mets' 14-5 win over the Colt .45s, and also represented the first home run ever by a Mets pitcher.

Four years later, on May 20, 1967, Jack Hamilton belted a bases-loaded blast at Shea off St. Louis' Al Jackson. Tommy Davis, Ken Boyer and Jerry Grote marched home ahead of Hamilton, who connected in the second inning of the Mets' 11- 9 loss to the Cards.

And it hasn't happened since.

VIOLA 18TH PLAYER IN HISTORY TO WIN 20 IN BOTH LEAGUES

Last year, Frank Viola became the 18th player in major league history to win 20 games in both leagues.

Viola also posted 24 wins for the Minnesota Twins in 1988, leading the Twins to the World Championship and winning the Cy Young Award that season.

Viola is the 11th pitcher to post both 20-win seasons in the modern era (since 1990). The last hurler to perform the feat was Tommy John, who won 20 for the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1977, and 21 in 1979 and 22 in 1980 for the New York Yankees.

Frank becomes just the third pitcher in history to post a 20-win season in the National League after first winning 20 in the American League. Carl Mays won 20 games for the Cincinnati Reds in 1924 after recording four 20-win seasons in the American League. Andy Messersmith also won 20 for California in 1971 before traveling across town to win 20 for the Dodgers in 1974.

He also becomes the second player in Mets history to have done it. Jerry Koosman won 21 games for the Mets in 1976, before reversing Viola's achievement and going to the Twins, where he won 20 games in 1979.

Viola is just the seventh player to have both 20-win seasons since 1960. There was a 49-year gap between Mays and Bill Singer, who posted his second 20-win campaign in 1973 for California.
